

Cara Wolf is the Founder and CEO of Ammolite Analytx, an international award winning custom AI technology development firm specializing in advanced information security solutions and data analytics for global companies, government and private sector clients. Cara draws upon her 25 years of technical and business expertise to lead multidisciplinary software development teams in the creation of customized advanced machine learning platforms in cyber security. She is an award winning, recognized