

Introduction

Rain is the 'magical' expression of people of color based on socially constructed racial identity that pits a group of people over another. Rain is a product of social level individuals plus of globalization. The